Dover Tubular announces expanded presence in Houston.

Dover Tubular, located in New Jersey since 1983 and Texas since 1993, is proud to announce construction on a completely renovated office and warehouse expansion in Houston. With an additional 25,000 square feet of warehouse space and a revitalized office and conference space, the Houston expansion will help us better serve the needs of customers by providing space to house much-needed inventory for our partners in the Gulf and West Coast. Lastly, our office facelift will give us the tools to better service our local partners long-term.

Customers win with Dover's deep inventory.

Since its inception, Dover has striven to be a true master distributor. What has always set us apart is our ongoing commitment to having a deep inventory of products on hand when you need it most. Tube and pipe comes in countless lengths, diameters, grades and wall thicknesses, and all serve specific purposes.

To ensure our customers always get what they need, we offer over 1,300 sizes of stainless steel tubing including the hard-to-find sizes and uncommon grades. We stock thousands of variations of tube and pipe in our warehouses from the world's leading Domestic, DFARS Compliant, AML, ISO Compliant, and Import mills. Additionally, we have one of the widest varieties of hollow bar in the nation, and the largest stock position of DFARS-compliant hollow bar available.

And with the expansion of the Houston warehouse and offices, Dover is poised to offer even more:

"We have increased overall inventory levels by nearly 90% with the largest growth being in the Houston branch. Our extensive inventory, our ability to cut all pipe and tube to specific length requirements combined with our 95% success rate of same day/next day shipping means our customers are better equipped to meet any of their immediate needs." says Justin Rattner, President, Dover Tubular.

How long have you worked for Dover Tubular?

I've worked here since October, 2013.

What do you do at Dover?

I work for the NJ warehouse team as a material handler and forklift operator.

What is your favorite part about working at Dover?

I love to feel like I'm part of a great team. It's been a wonderful experience bringing newer folks into the fold and helping to get them up to speed over the years.

What do you do in your free time?

As much fishing and hiking as the great state of NJ can offer!

What is your guilty pleasure?

I love any food anyone's willing to put in front of me!

At Dover Tubular, we appreciate our hard-working, committed, and highly-skilled employees. We rely on them to help us provide the highest quality stainless steel and aluminum tube and pipe available today.

Custom product lengths:
